HOK Design Annual 2018

By HOK

The HOK Design Annual 2018 highlights this leading global design firm's most exceptional recent work in architecture, interior design, planning, and urban design.

The projects featured demonstrate the intersection between HOK's thought leadership in specialty areas — including corporate, healthcare, hospitality, science + technology, sports, residential, and sustainability — and its firm-wide commitment to research and design excellence. Geographically diverse, these projects represent a variety of scales, and are technically advanced examples of how design can bring significant benefits to clients and the people who experience these spaces.

The HOK Design Annual 2018 is a valuable global trends reference source for design professionals, students, and architecture enthusiasts. It provides insight into the creative process of the teams that are creating society's next generation of buildings.
